

1996, 78-110.

Frigon, Sylvie. "Sexe, mensonge et vidéo." Journal of Prisoners on Prisons 8.1-2 (1997): 105-112.

Frigon, S. "Corps, féminités et dangerosité: De la production de "corps dociles" en criminologie." Du corps des femmes: Contrôles, surveillances et résistances. Eds. S. Frigon et M. Kérisit. Ottawa: Les Presses de l'Université d'Ottawa, 1999.

Frigon, S., et M. Kérisit, eds. Du corps des femmes: Contrôles, surveillances et résistances. Ottawa: Les Presses de l'Université d'Ottawa, 1999.

Gagnon, Marie. Bienvenue dans mon cauchemar. Montréal: VLB éditeurs, 1997.

Garfinkel, Harold. "Conditions of successful degradation ceremonies." The American Journal of Sociology 61.5 (1956): 420-424.

Ginsberg, Gisèle. Des prisons et des femmes. Paris: Éditions Ramsay, 1992.

Grosz, Elizabeth. "Le corps et les connaissances. Le féminisme et la crise de la raison." Sociologies et sociétés 24.1 (1992): 47-66.

Laplante, Jacques. Crime et traitement. Introduction critique à la criminologie. Montréal: Boréal Express, 1985.

Laplante, Jacques. Psychothérapies et impératifs sociaux. Les enjeux de la connaissance de soi. Ottawa: Les Presses de l'Université d'Ottawa; Montréal: Les Presses de l'Université de Montréal; Bruxelles: DeBoeck Université, 1995.

Préjean, Marc. Sexes et pouvoir: la construction sociale des corps et des émotions. Montréal: Les Presses de l'Université de Montréal, 1994.

ELIZABETH CLARK

Eyes

Through victim's eyes I looked at you,
Hurt, helpless, hopeless, frightened, self-loathing eyes.
I saw a liar, a racist, a murderer, a child abuser.
I thought you were a powerful man,
And I hated you.

Then, through persecutor's eyes I looked at you,
Raging, resenting, vengeful, judging, still self-loathing eyes.
I saw a weakling, a coward, a gutless shell.
I thought I was a powerful woman,
And I still hated you.

Then, through the eyes of a person who learned self-love I looked at you,
Gentle, loving, accepting, hopeful eyes.
I saw a sad, frightened, confused and helpless person.
I understood you completely,
I forgave you,
And I loved you.
I am a powerful woman; I can change the world through my eyes.

Elizabeth Clark currently works as a registered nurse in Toronto. Nine of her stories were featured this spring on CKLN-FM 88.1.

26th
NATCON

P

PROGRAM CALL

The 26th National Consultation on Career Development (NATCON) will be held Monday to Wednesday, 24-26 January 2000 in Ottawa, Canada. NATCON is the largest international bilingual conference addressing career development and employment-related issues.

This is your opportunity to share ideas and contribute to the advancement of the career development field. Topics may address various issues such as counselling methods and tools, employment search techniques, career information and technological resources, labour market trends as well as personal and professional development.

To receive the proposal outline, please contact the NATCON office.
Telephone: (416) 978-8011 Fax: (416) 978-2271
E-mail: natcon.conat@utoronto.ca

Submissions must be received by Wednesday, 7 July 1999.

NATCON is co-sponsored since 1987 by The Counselling Foundation of Canada, Human Resources Development Canada, and the Career Centre, University of Toronto.