AIDA FARRAG GRAFF

Mirage

Cleopatra's serpent set her free.
But you my dear, ensnared me
In the coils of your glistening smiles.
I never sensed the venom,
Never tasted the bitterness of your honeyed words—
Pearls of wit and wisdom!
Never shuddered from your tight embrace,
Believing it was the breathlessness of love.
Never saw through the mirror of your soul,
Thinking you were
What you appeared to be.

And now abandoned and alone,
I writhe, seeing roads not taken.

Aida Farrag Graff's poetry appears earlier in this issue.

LABOUR/LE TRAVAIL

Journal of Canadian Labour Studies

"Knowledge of our collective history is essential if we are to move forward, and Labour/Le Travail consistently provides the best research and analysis of labour and working-class history, drawing important links between work, family and community aspects of our lives."

Nancy Riche, Vice-President, Canadian Labour Congress

Published by the Canadian Committee on Labour History since 1976, Labour/Le Travail features important articles on working-class history, industrial sociology, labour economics and labour relations. Although primarily interested in articles providing an historical perspective on workers in Canada, the bi-annual journal also publishes documents, conference reports, review essays and reviews.

Labour/Le Travail Subscription Rates (Outside Canada):

Individual $25 ($30 US); Institutions $35 ($50 US);

Student/Retired/Unemployed $15 ($25 US)
